THURSDAY, MARCH 2ND, 2017
9:00 AM – 3:15 PM

Dear colleagues,

Over the last couple months, we have been engaged with California health foundations about the development of a statewide health workforce master plan over the coming year. As some of you are aware, this is a longstanding vision for the state of California that is reflected in numerous CHWA/CHPC reports going back nearly a decade. We are excited that the foundations are exploring how to translate this vision into a reality for the state of California. We are currently conducting background research and a series of key informant interviews to provide insights into decisions regarding the design and content of a planning process. We are also updating and expanding the statewide inventory of health pathway programs and workforce efforts in CA that CHPC created a few years ago. With this in mind, we seek input from our diverse membership at this early juncture to inform the foundations' thinking as they begin to explore options, strategies, and opportunities in the coming months. Please join us for this early conversation, and help shape this extremely important initiative.
